

Kumaran and Maya

story and illustrations by Priyanka

Ganesh the carpenter loves to make toys. Sadly, he has no children to play with them.

Suddenly a fairy appears!!!

I grant Wishes!!

Who are you?

I am Bomma the fairy

I cannot discriminate between a boy and a girl!

I want a boy of my own

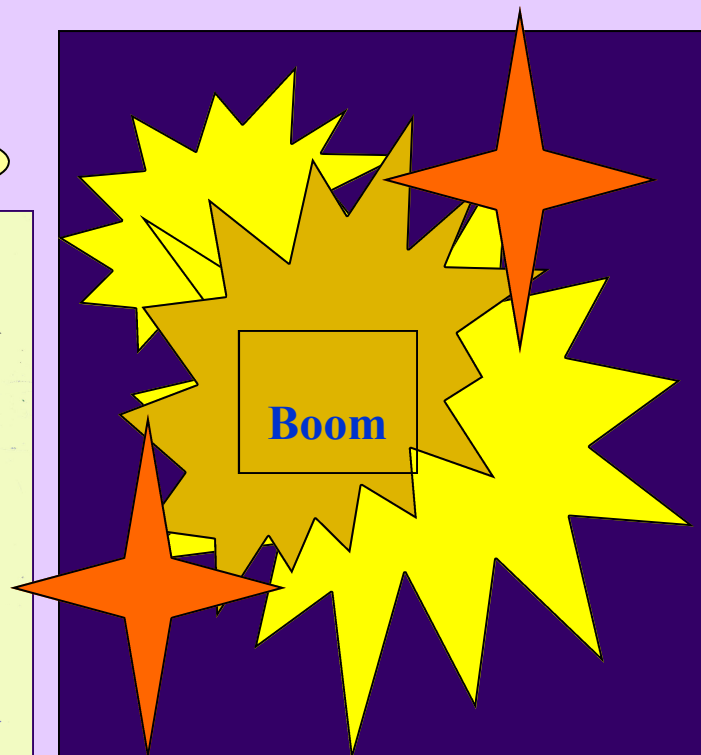

So have both of them for week and you decide whom do you want

Now let's see

So the fairy waved her wand and.....

And two of his favorite dolls turned into human children. He named them Kumaran and Maya

Hi what's up dad!!

Good Day father!!

I dissected a frog, solved a algebra puzzle

A week passed so quickly

How'd you do in school?

Uh... I... played..hmm...

The week was over. The fairy came back

So whom do you want?

Ganesh couldn't decide. He loved them both very much.

I do not want to choose. I love them both so much.

So the fairy let the carpenter keep both children. He lived happily with his kids. Most of all he loved having kids to play with his toys.
The End.
